OUR SOLUTIONS – SAVING YOU TIME AND MONEY

Delivering expertise in coating solutions to extend the life of your facility assets

Every facility is unique, and the type of coating system needed to extend the life of your structural assets varies depending on the surfaces being coated, the environment, the location and specific uses. Led by the Sherwin-Williams Asset Protection Manager (APM), our facility team draws from years of experience and industry expertise to guide you in selecting the right coatings technology for your facility. Working with our APM, you can be confident that your facility assets are protected with the best coatings systems to meet the day-to-day demands of your facility.

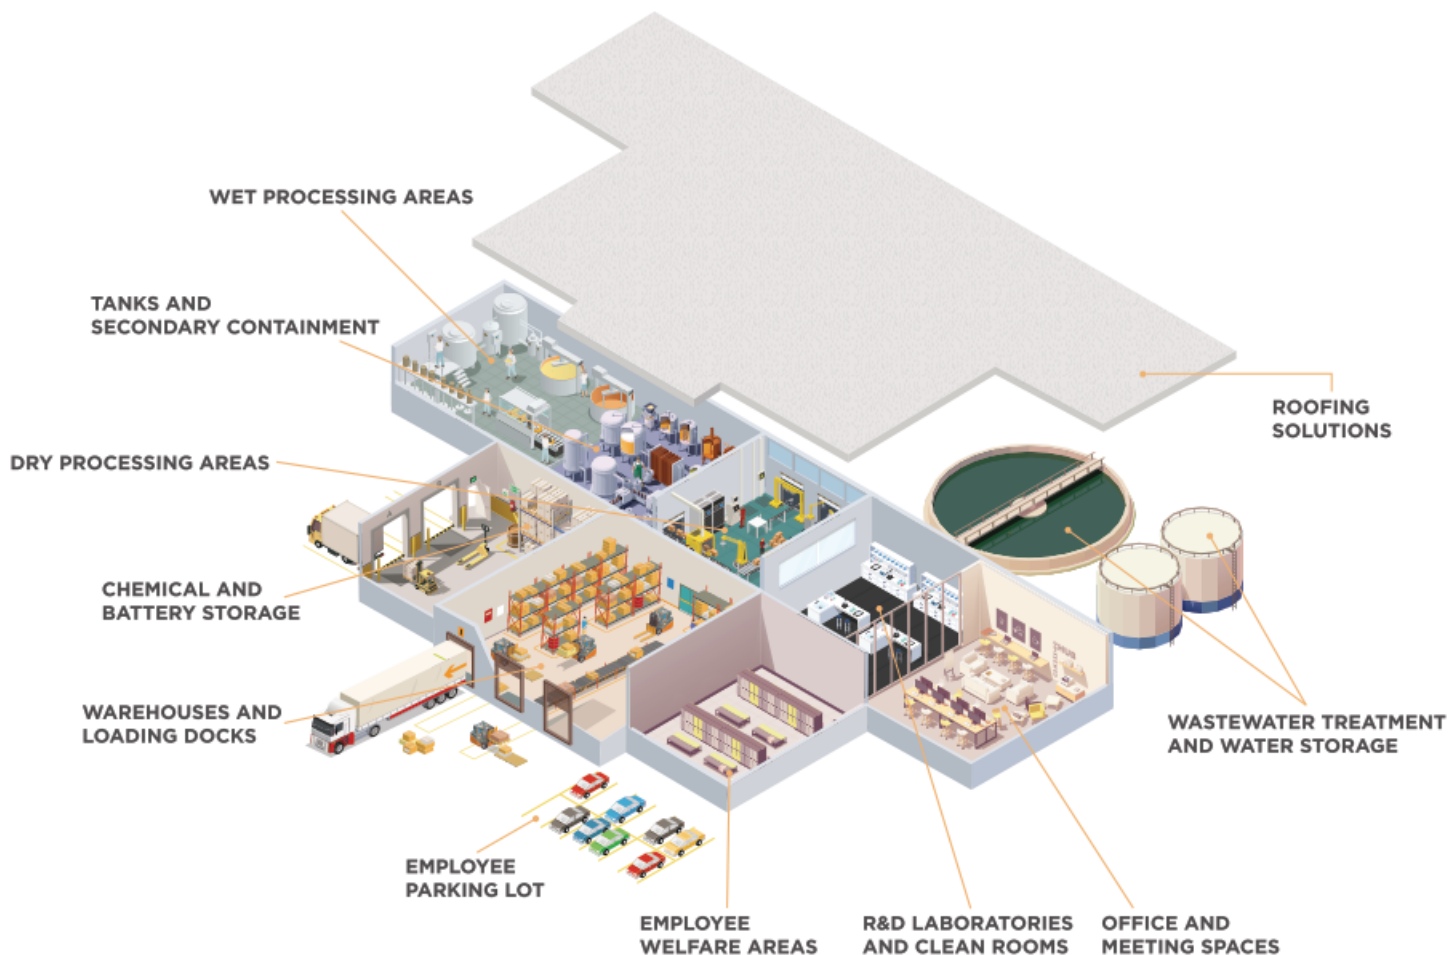

HOW WE ELIMINATE YOUR PAIN POINTS

The Sherwin-Williams Asset Protection Manager provides a range of complementary services to help you plan and maintain your facilities. These services include immediate solutions for urgent maintenance issues, as well as long-term planning for ongoing maintenance needs.

Our APMs take the time to understand your challenges related to safety, risk, sustainability, compliance and utility management to help identify areas where improvements are needed and solutions can be implemented.

OUR ASSET PROTECTION MANAGER'S PROCESS

COMPLETE COVERAGE FROM ONE SOURCE

As the industry leader, Sherwin-Williams provides unparalleled technical, manufacturing and distribution resources through one of the most comprehensive portfolios of industrial coatings and services on the market. These are proven solutions that protect and extend the life of critical facility assets, such as walls, floors, tanks, structural steel, roofs and more. To safeguard these investments against exposure to chemicals, abrasion, temperature extremes, moisture and other potentially damaging conditions, proper maintenance is key. This is where your APM comes in.

When designing your customized maintenance plan, your APM is supported by Sherwin-Williams experts in cutting-edge coatings science, substrate materials, application techniques and facility safety. Depending on your specific needs, specialists from a range of disciplines may be consulted to ensure that your plan offers an optimal, cohesive approach to facility maintenance that can help streamline your approach, support your operational and safety objectives and your bottom line.
